

HIS BRIDE MISSING

PECULIAR MATRIMONIAL EXPERIENCE OF SAM VICTOR.

IS HEARTBROKEN AND IRATE

ANOTHER CASE OF TOO MUCH MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Couple Elope to Leavenworth and There Were Married—Honey-moon Sadly Marred by "The Mysterious Disappearance" of the Bride.

Sam Victor, a solicitor in the employ of the Woodmen Accident Insurance Company, applied to the police and Humane Officer Greenman yesterday morning for assistance in locating his wife, "Brookside" Victor, who has been missing from home since last Saturday. The missing woman is a bride of a few days and her youthful husband declares that she is being held a prisoner by her relatives against her will. He wants the police to locate her and induce her to return to her home. Victor is only 20 years old and his bride is two years his junior. They eloped to Leavenworth on June 13, and were married. When they returned to Kansas City they made their home with Mrs. A. M. Ransom, of Eighteenth street and College avenue, a sister of the bridegroom. Last Saturday Mrs. Victor went to the home of her mother, Mrs. M. McKissick, who lives at 22 West Thirtieth street, to procure her clothing. Her husband had not seen or heard of her since. Tuesday night he went to police headquarters and requested Lieutenant Weber to send an officer to the home of his mother-in-law for the purpose of ascertaining whether his wife was being held a prisoner there. Lieutenant Weber declined to have anything to do with the case and yesterday Victor was advised to go to Humane Officer Greenman and enlist his services in locating his wife. Victor had known Miss McKissick for about a year before they were married. Mrs. McKissick was opposed to their union because of their ages and the young people concluded to elope to Leavenworth and get married, trusting that the girl's mother would bestow her blessing upon them afterward.

Victor Swore He Was 21.

Victor admitted to Colonel Greenman that he had sworn he was 21 years old in order to procure a license, but said that his father, J. W. Victor, of 617 East Eighth street, had afterward gone to Leavenworth and left with the probate judge of that county his written consent.

Victor was stage hand at the Orpheum last season and was, until a week or ten days ago, employed as a paper hanger and painter. Since that time he has been soliciting business for the Woodmen Accident Insurance Company.

Victor says he was told by a member of the Humane Society that he would be prosecuted for perjury if he tried to find his wife. He says his mother-in-law knows where his wife is, and his object in applying to the police was to secure possession of her by force if necessary. He was almost beside himself with rage when he called at police headquarters yesterday, and he threatened to do many rash things unless the police would come to his aid willingly. Colonel Greenman informed the young man that he possessed no authority to interfere in such a case, and he was advised to locate his wife and then institute a suit in replevin in a justice court if he desired to regain possession of her. Victor claims he is capable of providing a good home for his bride and that it is all the fault of her relatives that she left him. He says he went to the home of his mother-in-law two or three times since his wife disappeared and that she refused him admittance. He consulted a lawyer in the New York Life building last night with a view to instituting a suit in replevin.

BOUND FOR SAGUAY.

A Youthful St. Louisan Wants to See His Mother, Who Is an Actress.

Chief of Police Hayes received a letter yesterday from C. J. Jordan, of 1719 Morgan street, St. Louis, requesting him to keep a lookout for his son, Clem A. Jordan, who left his home in St. Louis last Monday on his way to Saguay, Alaska. The lad is only 11 years old, but his father writes that he will probably try to make his way to Alaska by stealing rides on freight trains. The boy's mother lives in Saguay and is an actress. Her father, who is anxious to see her, so his father writes, and started out on the long journey alone, without money and very little clothing. A description of the youthful traveler has been given by the detectives at the Union depot. The boy is four feet tall, has light hair and blue eyes and wore knee trousers and a straw hat when he left home.

BILLY PINKERTON REJOICES.

Expresses His Gratification at Jack Kennedy's Conviction for Train Robbery.

William A. Pinkerton, manager of the famous Pinkerton detective agency, left last night for his home in Chicago over the Burlington, after a three days' inspection of the Kansas City agency. Mr. Pinkerton was en route to his home after a six weeks' trip throughout the West. He visited Colorado, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, California, Washington and Oregon. He said business was never better in the West than at the present time. Colorado was in particularly good condition in a business way, now that the smelter strike was declared off.

When asked what he thought of the conviction of Jack Kennedy, he said: "Well, Jack Kennedy has at last got his just deserts. He made one too many attempts and got caught. Had he been tried in Jackson county he might have been cleared, judging from past records. However, he didn't meet with any false sympathy from the country jurors, who saw their duty and performed it. With Kennedy convicted and sentenced, a gang of as desperate desperadoes as ever infested any community is broken up. I'm glad he is convicted."

CHANGED MOTHERS-IN-LAW.

But That Did Not Bring to Fred Rodenhous the Blessing Peace He Craved.

Changing mothers-in-law did not bring Fred Rodenhous, who lives out in the southwest part of town, the relief that he may have sought in making the change, and one of the evidences of the failure of the move was found in a warrant charging disturbance of the peace issued in Justice Spitz court yesterday. Bridget O'Donnell was the name of the first mother-in-law Fred Rodenhous had, but he got a divorce from the wife who went with her and married again.

He was not thus easily to escape, however, and one day, before his second honeymoon was over, when he was passing the home of his former mother-in-law, at 281 Jefferson street, he claims that she attacked him with epithets and "loud and unusual noises, and quarreling and challenging to fight." He therefore swore out a warrant for Bridget O'Donnell's arrest.

LET OFF WITH A LECTURE.

Officer Dunn on the Carpet for Striking a Boy and Calling Him by a Vile Name.

The police commissioners held what might be called a mock trial yesterday afternoon in the case of Policeman J. W. Dunn, who was charged with having hit Fred Griffith with his club and fist, and called the boy a vile name. He also hit another youngster, Eugene Snyder, on the bottom of his shoes. The boys testified that they were playing ball on the vacant lot on Lexington avenue, between Indiana and Sales, Saturday afternoon, when Dunn came out of the alley and arrested them. The boys were taken to a telephone, and Dunn telephoned to Sergeant Caskey, who told him to turn them loose after giving them a lecture. Thomas Snyder, William Secrest, Tim Hunt, Grant Glenn, Warren James and Eugene Snyder testified. Three of them swore under oath that Dunn had sworn at young Griffith, and that he had hit both Griffith and Eugene Snyder. The boys range in ages from 19 to 15 years. The police commissioners said that the evidence was not exactly clear, and for that reason a reprimand was all that was given. However, Messrs. Ward and Gregory both said if they were sure Dunn had called the boy the name alleged they would discharge him unceremoniously. Fred Griffith was the complaining witness. He admitted that he was probably impertinent, but said he did not swear at the officer.

The commissioners' room was filled with saloonkeepers who were making applications for renewals of licenses. There were no complaints heard yesterday. The saloonkeepers were notified that if any objections were made they would be informed. The renewals will go into effect July 4.

A—"It is when a man is in trouble that he knows the value of a wife." Dunn said. He can put all his property in her name.
